Thou didst leave Thy throne, and Thy king - ly crown, When Thou cam - est to earth for me; But in Beth - le - hem's home was there cresc.

The musical score is written for Organ and Baritone Solo. The tempo is marked 'Andante'. The key signature has one sharp (F#). The organ part is in the right hand of a grand staff, and the baritone solo is in the left hand. The lyrics are: 'Thou didst leave Thy throne, and Thy king - ly crown, When Thou cam - est to earth for me; But in Beth - le - hem's home was there'. The organ part includes a 'cresc.' (crescendo) marking. The score is divided into four systems, each with organ and baritone staves.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

TO ALL USERS of OCTAVO MUSIC
for CHOIRS, MUSICAL CLUBS & SCHOOLS

ANYTHING in our catalogs may be had for examination, and for the benefit of those unfamiliar with our publications of this kind we will make selections on request. In the latter case, we require explicit directions as to size of chorus, number of soloists, and degree of difficulty. The names of such works as have been given and have proved satisfactory would also aid us in selecting.

¶ Copies may be kept a reasonable time, returns being credited or exchanged if in salable condition. The cost of transportation both ways will be at the customer's expense.

¶ When returning music, the sender's name should be written on the outside of the package. Those not having accounts with us should send cash with their order, which will be returned less cost of music retained and postage. If frequent supplies are to be ordered, will open an account if satisfactory references are furnished. The names of any two responsible business houses with whom you have had dealings on a credit basis will be satisfactory.

¶ Selections may be ordered through your local dealer.

¶ NOTE.—The Octavo numbers should be given in every instance when ordering.
